

Taking Care of Your Guitar or Ukulele

- Always lay the case down flat before you unpack your instrument.
- Keep your instrument away from extreme hot and cold temperatures.
- DO NOT twist the tuning pegs/tuners. Let your teacher tune the instrument for you - they will do this every lesson.
- DO NOT let anyone else play your instrument, it is your responsibility.
- When you are not playing your instrument either pack it away or buy a special stand that allows you to leave your instrument out safely. You can purchase those in music shops or on the internet. If it is kept on a stand then practicing becomes much quicker and easier.
- If you have a problem with your instrument or if you think it is broken, bring it back to your music teacher at school and DO NOT try to get it repaired yourself. Alternatively contact our instrument warehouse team at lmsinstruments@lancashire.gov.uk for advice.
- Practice at home. By playing your instrument a little each day you will make good progress and keep your instrument in good working order. 5 minutes every day is much better than a long session once a week.
- To help you practice you can log in to Lancashiremusicinteractive.co.uk. You will find this information in your practice diary.

Following these guidelines will ensure that you have great fun playing your instrument.
